House of Refuge.*

1904, art. 27, sec. 509. 1888, art. 27, sec. 351. 1860, art. 78, sec. 1.
1830, ch. 64, sec. 1.

572. The subscribers to the house of refuge are a body politic and corporate by the name and style of "The House of Refuge," and by that name and style shall have perpetual succession, with the power to have a common seal and to change the same at pleasure; to make contracts relative to said institution; to sue and be sued, and by that name and style shall be capable of purchasing, taking, holding and conveying any estate, real or personal, for the use of said corporation, and to establish by-laws and orders for the regulation of said institution and the preservation and application of the funds thereof.

Since the House of Refuge is an institution holding property contributed solely for benevolent purposes, its funds derived mainly from public and private charity are held in trust, and damages can not be recovered from such funds. Perry v. House of Refuge, 63 Md. 20.
